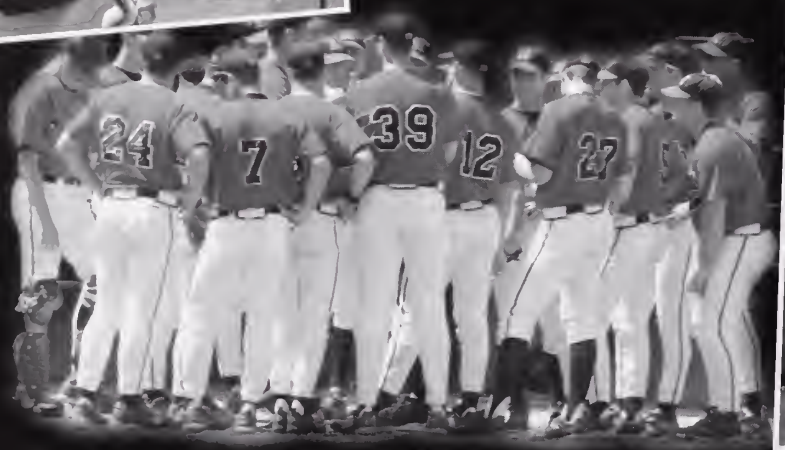
This Is Maryland BASEBALL



The cornerstone of the Terrapin baseball program is a strong team concept. At Maryland, individual players come together as one solid group in order to achieve the same goal: success.

Shipley Field is the home of the Terps. It is here that the Maryland players do battle against the tough competition they face in a powerful ACC.

Coach Terry Rupp

Head Coach Terry Rupp has been at the helm of the Maryland baseball program for the past three seasons. Each year, his teams have made positive strides due to the hard work and discipline which he instills in his players.

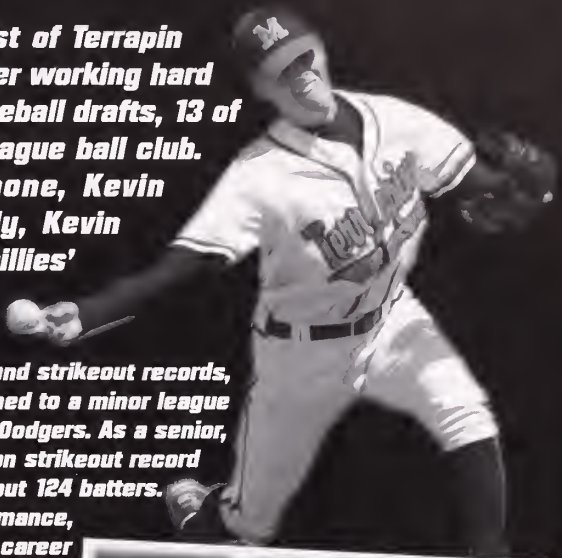
Rupp With Team USA

In the summer of 2002, Head Coach Terry Rupp served as an assistant coach with Team USA Baseball. Rupp toured with the squad on its summer Red, White and Blue Tour, before helping the Stars & Stripes capture the Honkbal Classic Championship in The Netherlands and the silver medal at the FISU World University Baseball Championship.

Terps' Road To The Pros

Kyle George and Steve Schmoll join the growing list of Terrapin players who have entered professional baseball after working hard under Terry Rupp. Over the past seven amateur baseball drafts, 13 of Rupp's players have been selected by a major league ball club. Schmoll and George join Brandon Agamennone, Kevin Haverbusch, Garry Maddox Jr., John McCurdy, Kevin McDonald, Matt Swope and the Philadelphia Phillies' Eric Milton as Terrapin players who are currently playing professional baseball.

Kyle George was selected by the Baltimore Orioles in major league baseball's 2003 first-year player draft. Earning a reputation as a solid defensive shortstop, George also hit .289 with four Homeruns and 22 RBI in his senior year for the Terps.



After breaking two Maryland strikeout records, Steve Schmoll was signed to a minor league contract by the Los Angeles Dodgers. As a senior, he smashed the single-season strikeout record at Maryland by punching out 124 batters. With that incredible performance, Schmoll became the all-time career strikeout leader for the Terps, posting 272 K's.

2004 SEASON OUTLOOK

There is a lot of excitement surrounding the 2004 Maryland baseball team this year. A solid core of experienced juniors return to a team which has acquired several key newcomers.

Over the past few years, the Terps have played a tougher schedule than ever before. They have persevered through tough times, and worked extremely hard so they would be prepared to succeed against the toughest of competition. The Terrapins believe that now is their time to succeed. The youth of last year's team has returned a more experienced and battle-tested group of players, poised to make a splash in the ACC.

Terry Rupp and his coaching staff have the highest expectations for this Maryland squad since arriving in College Park four years ago. They feel that all of the right pieces are in place for this team to have some real success. The Terps return a core of their starting lineup, with eight players who started 20 or more games last season. Despite the loss of Steve Schmoll, the pitching staff remains largely intact.

One of last year's goals was improved play in the ACC. Despite not finishing higher in the standings, the Terps proved that they can compete with the top teams by taking three consecutive weekend series against ACC competition. These big wins are not enough to satisfy Rupp and his coaching staff, however."Our goal is, and will always be, to get into the regional tournament and move on from there," said Rupp.

Last year's Terrapin baseball team saw several players emerge to show that they are ready to step up and provide the help needed in order for this team to reach the next level. Junior outfielder Justin Maxwell broke out last year, leading the Terps in six offensive categories as a sophomore. This performance led to Maxwell being named a second-team preseason All-American by Baseball America. The Terps expect Maxwell to continue to excel and lead this team in the right direction.

Sophomore Mike Costantino also made a good impression last season. He was one of the team's best hitters as a freshman. His successful transition from high school to college ball shows great promise for his career as a Terrapin. He will surely be a cornerstone for their success. Right-handed pitcher Chris Clem also stepped it up last season, showing coaches that he is ready to be one of the leaders on this year's pitching staff.

With the emergence of those returning players, recruiting coordinator Gregg Kilby and the rest of the coaching staff have also brought in some top quality recruits to supplement the core of last year's team. Junior Kevin Hart is a transfer out of Navarro Community College in Texas who gives the Terps a solid arm in the pitching rotation, while providing a powerful bat to the lineup as well. Other transfers, Truan Mehl and Elliot Singletary, provide speed which the Terps have been missing in past years.

Perhaps, the greatest attribute of this year's Maryland team is its balance. The team is full of players who have the ability to do many different things on the field. This versatility gives the team great depth, and allows Rupp to field many different lineups. Almost every starting position has several possible takers. Never before in the Rupp era at Maryland has there been such competition for each spot. Though the lineup is not set in stone, Rupp says "this definitely is not a bad problem to have."

A solid pitching staff has always been something the Terps have tried to establish since Rupp took over. This year, they feel as though they have exactly what they've been working for. Rupp feels that if things work out like he expects, this year's staff could be one of the best around.

Kevin Hart will compete with Chris Clem for the top starting spot on a staff that saw the loss of Steve Schmoll, who signed a minor league deal with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Hart is a strong pitcher with an arsenal of four pitches to choose from. He is very durable and will provide the Terps with many valuable innings. Last year, he led Navarro with a 2.54 ERA and 81 strikeouts in 72 innings while issuing just 12 walks for a 9-2 record. He is a key addition to the pitching staff, which the coaches feel will pay big dividends for the Terps.

Clem really turned it on in the second half last season, as he pitched his way to a 4-3 record with a 4.35 ERA. Over the offseason, he has worked on his changeup, which will give him a combination of three quality pitches to choose from. What coaches like best about Clem is the valuable ACC experience he brings to the rotation as a starter. He has started 14 ACC games throughout his career, the most by any returning Terrapin.

Battling for the third weekend starting role will be junior Sean Kane and sophomore transfer Ben Pfinsgraff. Kane is a hard-throwing right-hander who started 12 games last season. Since last year, he has made significant improvements to his breaking ball and change-up. Rupp feels that if Kane can bring everything together, he will be a key in making this rotation a force.

Transferring from Allegheny College, Pfinsgraff brings with him an array of pitches to choose from. He has a quality fastball, curveball, change-up and slider, all of which he can throw for strikes. Rupp also says to watch out for him because he has surprisingly strong arm strength for his stature.

Lefties Chris Bowen and Casey Baron are projected to be midweek starters and the top middle relievers coming out of the bullpen. Bowen, a junior, is the most improved pitcher on the staff, and has greatly increased the command on his pitches. Baron, a freshman who is very polished coming into college, has great command of his pitches.

Preseason All-American Justin Maxwell

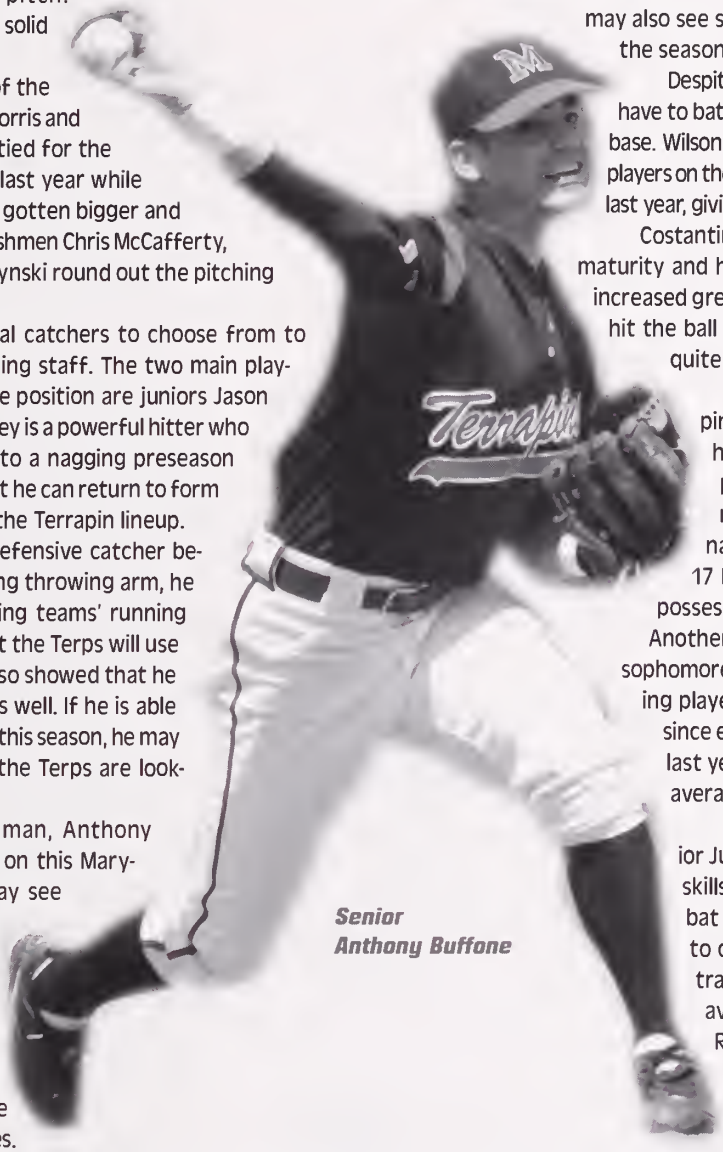
There are many potential candidate to fill the role of closer. Sophomore Seth Overbey, junior Justin Hulse and freshman Mike Sharkevich are the leaders for the spot. Overbey has good command over a hard fastball with great movement. An impressive slider from a submarine style release is Hulse's signature pitch. Sharkevich is a righty with a solid slider.

Adding to the depth of the bullpen are juniors Brooks Norris and Josh Andrews. Norris was tied for the team-lead with four saves last year while Andrews is a lefty who has gotten bigger and stronger since last year. Freshmen Chris McCafferty, Dan Waters and Mike Sufczynski round out the pitching staff for the Terps.

The Terps have several catchers to choose from to backstop this quality pitching staff. The two main players who will see time at the position are juniors Jason Maxey and Bobby Ryan. Maxey is a powerful hitter who struggled last season due to a nagging preseason wrist injury. Rupp hopes that he can return to form and be an integral part of the Terrapin lineup.

Ryan is an excellent defensive catcher behind the plate. With a strong throwing arm, he is able to eliminate opposing teams' running games – a valuable tool that the Terps will use to their advantage. Ryan also showed that he can produce at the plate as well. If he is able to put everything together this season, he may be the complete package the Terps are looking for.

The ultimate utility man, Anthony Buffone is the lone senior on this Maryland squad. Though he may see time at every position this year, including catcher, Buffone will spend a majority of the season starting at first base. Last year, he was the only player to play all 53 games, and led the team with 21 multi-hit games.



Senior
Anthony Buffone

When he's not pitching, Kevin Hart may see some action at first. With the power he can bring to the plate, the Terps would like to get him into the lineup as often as possible. Freshman Taylor Baum may spend some time covering first during the season as well.

Returning second baseman Joe Sargent will face some competition for his spot this year from freshman Dan Melvin. Sargent is a junior who started 38 games last year. He brings valuable power to the position, posting a .453 slugging percentage last year.

Melvin is a great defensive player with great range and a strong throwing arm. His speed will allow him to snag some bags for the Terps this season. Power is not a problem for him either. He is a gap-type hitter who can put the ball out of the park.

The shortstop position will be handled by junior transfer Elliot Singletary, replacing Kyle George who was drafted by the Orioles last year. Singletary is a very strong defensive shortstop. He hits for average, while his speed allows him to be an effective base-stealer. Sophomore Matt Maropis may also see some time at short and second at times throughout the season

Despite having a fantastic freshman year, Mike Costantino will have to battle against Jordan Wilson for the starting spot at third base. Wilson's hard work has made him one of the most improved players on the team. He's really turned things around offensively since last year, giving himself a chance to compete for the spot.

Costantino may be the best pure hitter on the team. Between maturity and his dedication in the weight room, his strength has increased greatly. Since last year, he has become a player who will hit the ball for power and average. He has the potential to be quite a slugger for the Terps.

At designated hitter, Will Frazier will give the Terrapins a source of power in the middle of the lineup. He has the ability to hit line drives to every part of the park. Last year, he was third on the team with seven multiple-RBI games. After being switched to designated hitter, he really turned it on, hitting .317 with 17 RBI. Frazier will also see some time in left field and possesses an above-average throwing arm.

Another Terp competing for time in left field will be redshirt sophomore Brian Jarosinski. He may be one of the hardest working players on the team. He has been constantly improving since earning a starting job in the outfield midway through last year. He can hit for power at the plate and has above-average defensive skills.

Anchoring the outfielding corps in center will be junior Justin Maxwell, who possesses outstanding defensive skills and displays great range. Maxwell provides a solid bat to the heart of the lineup. He is able to use his speed to cover the gaps in the outfield, preventing many extra base hits. Last year he led the Terps in RBI, batting average, runs, homeruns, stolen bases and multiple-RBI games.

Rounding out the lineup will be junior transfer Truan Mehl. He has a tremendous throwing arm, and may be the best defensive outfielder on the team. He will also bring the Terps some more speed on the bases. Last year he was in the nation's top 10 for stolen bases by a junior college player. Mehl will also provide a quality bat at the top of the lineup.

This year's lineup may not stay the same throughout the season, but the team's dedication, determination and hard work will be a constant. The Terps, from top to bottom, are a group of talented and determined ball players. The coaches are focused on the success of this year's team and there is every reason to believe they will achieve their goals.

Terry Rupp

Head Coach
Fourth season at Maryland
Ninth season overall
Tampa '88

Terry Rupp is entering his fourth season as the head coach of the Terrapin baseball team. In each of his previous three seasons, Rupp has overseen improvements in many aspects of the baseball program. His philosophy of discipline and hard work has started moving this team in the right direction.

During the 2003 season, Rupp took a very young group of players and helped them set several individual and team records. Despite having five freshmen and sophomores in the lineup, the Terps won three consecutive ACC series for the first time since they began playing three-game sets in 1990. The 2003 season saw the Terps facing some very tough opponents. With Rupp, they were able to come away with four victories over teams in the top 15.

Throughout his four seasons atop the Maryland program, Rupp has shown the ability to help develop the skills of his players to their full potential. He helped develop pitcher Steve Schmoll into one of Maryland's all-time great pitchers after he had a 7.35 ERA as a junior. In 2003, Schmoll became Maryland's all-time and single season strikeout leader. Rupp has also overseen the development of junior Justin Maxwell, from a .239 hitter as a freshman to a 2004 second-team preseason All-American.

The drafting of Kyle George by the Baltimore Orioles in 2003 marked the 13th time that one of Rupp's players, on both Maryland and his alma mater, has been drafted in the past seven amateur baseball drafts.

After adjusting to ACC play in his first season in 2001, Rupp brought home 34 wins in 2002. In just his second year in charge of the program, he led the Terps to the most victories in Maryland history. This marked the first time that a Terrapin baseball team had even brought home 30 wins in a season. During his 2002 campaign, Rupp also saw numerous team records shattered, including runs scored, hits, doubles, RBI, strikeouts and saves.

In the summer of 2002, Rupp took advantage of a unique experience and represented Maryland as an assistant coach with Team USA Baseball. Rupp helped guide the team on its summer Red, White and Blue Tour, before helping the Stars & Stripes capture the Honkbal Classic Championship in The Netherlands. Rupp and Team USA went on to earn the silver medal at the FISU World University Baseball Championship in Messina, Italy.

It is clear that Rupp has the Terrapins pointed in the right direction to be a competitor in the region, and in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Rupp and his staff continue to attract talented recruits, and continue to strive toward the program's ultimate goals of being a perennial contender and consistently reaching the NCAA tournament.

Rupp, 37, led his alma mater Tampa to a 215-80 (.729) record in five years before coming to Maryland, including four 40-win seasons. Rupp guided the 1998 Spartans to the program's third national championship with an impressive 46-14 record. In 2000, his team was ranked No. 2 in the NCAA Division II poll heading into postseason play. His Tampa teams posted a 15-5 cumulative record against Division I opposition, including wins over Miami, Oral Roberts, Southwestern Louisiana and Army.

Rupp is a graduate of the University of Tampa where he earned a bachelor of science degree in marketing. At Tampa, he was a two-time All-South Regional baseball selection who played on teams that made a pair of national championship appearances. He was a teammate of St. Louis Cardinals' first baseman and four-time world champion Tino Martinez. He also was a two-time all-conference selection in basketball and a two-time conference all-academic selection, and was inducted into Tampa's Sports Hall of Fame in the Fall of 2002.

Before college, Rupp was a Parade and McDonald's All-American in basketball after helping lead Jesuit High of Tampa to the class 3A state championship. In 1989, he was voted into the Jesuit High School Athletic Hall of Fame.

Rupp was a 16th-round draft choice of the San Diego Padres in 1989 and played two seasons in the Padres' minor league organization. From 1993-95 he was a minor league coach for the short season Class "A" Oneonta Yankees of the New York-Penn League.

Rupp married his wife Jill in 1999, and they reside in University Park. The couple welcomed their first child, Jacob Robert Rupp on October 2, 2003.

Gregg Kilby

Assistant Coach/
Recruiting Coordinator
Fourth season at Maryland
Southern Wesleyan '91

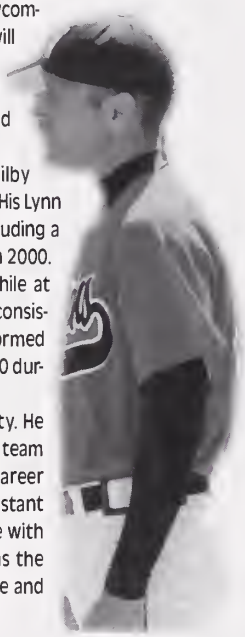
Gregg Kilby enters his fourth season as the assistant coach and recruiting coordinator for the Terps.

Since serving as recruiting coordinator, Kilby has helped to sign four of the most highly-touted classes in Terrapin baseball history. Two members of his first recruiting class were named freshman All-Americans and five sought-after newcomers joined the Terrapins in 2003. Eleven acclaimed recruits will play for the Terrapins in 2004, including several community college transfers. These young recruits will play a significant role for the Terps in years to come. Kilby has already received commitments from five recruits for the 2005 season.



Before coming to Maryland for the 2001 season, Kilby coached Lynn University in its first four seasons of NCAA play. His Lynn teams recorded a 6-4-1 record versus Division I programs including a hard-fought 5-4 loss to defending national champion Miami in 2000.

Kilby led Lynn to a 103-108-1 record as head coach. While at Lynn, his team led the nation in double plays in 1999 and was consistently ranked during his four years. Kilby's teams also performed outside the lines as the program posted an GPA higher than 3.0 during his tenure.

Kilby is a 1991 graduate of Southern Wesleyan University. He lettered in three seasons at Southern Wesleyan and was named team co-captain and all-district in 1991. Kilby began his coaching career on the collegiate level in 1993 at Clemson University as an assistant for two seasons and made a College World Series appearance with the Tigers. Following his stay with the Tigers, Kilby served as the assistant at the University of Nevada for the 1996 season. He and his wife Annie were married in December 2000.

Ben Bachmann

Assistant Coach/
Pitching Coach
Fourth season at Maryland
Lewis '97

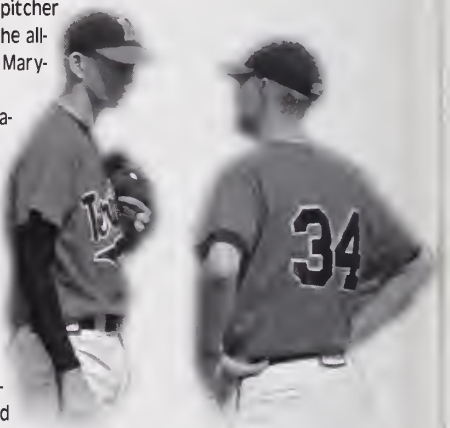
Ben Bachmann begins his fourth year as pitching coach for the Terrapins. Bachmann has made a significant impact on the Maryland baseball program. This is evidenced by the school records set within the past two seasons by his pitching staff. Last year, he helped turn Steve Schmoll from a pitcher with a 7.35 ERA in his junior season into the all-time and single season strikeout leader in Maryland history.



In 2002, Bachmann helped the Terrapin pitchers establish school records for strikeouts (451) and saves (10). He also saw senior closer Ken Beck set a new single-season mark for saves with seven, and become one of four Terps taken in the 2002 MLB draft.

Bachmann was part of current Terrapin assistant coach Gregg Kilby's staff at Lynn Universty for two seasons. Bachmann led the Lynn pitching staff to a school-record 379 strikeouts in 1999 and helped lower the team ERA by nearly four runs per game after taking over in 1998.

Bachmann is a 1997 graduate of Lewis University with a degree in business administration. He was a tri-captain during his senior season as a player for the Flyers. He also was named academic all-conference at Lewis and he earned his master's degree in business administration from Lynn in 2000.

Prior to Lewis, Bachmann was an All-American at Kankakee C.C. in Illinois. The Michigan City, Ind., native was a first-team all-region selection as a sophomore and his freshman ERA ranked third in the nation.

In addition to his responsibilities with the Maryland pitchers, Bachmann is the chief administrator of the Terry Rupp Terrapin Baseball Camp, held over the summer.

His 2001 team finished 20th nationally, while his 2002 team ranked 13th and won the Gulf South Conference Tournament.

2003 SEASON REVIEW

Though the Maryland Terrapin baseball team's final record was below the standards set by head coach Terry Rupp when the Terps won a team-record 34 games in 2002, the young team racked up numerous individual and team accomplishments and continues to make forward strides.

With a lineup that featured five sophomores or freshmen and a schedule that featured more top competition, Maryland was a battled-tested team, which should translate into big success in 2004.

Maryland won three ACC series over a span of three consecutive weeks, the first time since the team began playing three-game sets in 1990 that the team won three consecutive series in a season in a row, and just the second time the Terps won three conference series in a season. For the season, Maryland captured four weekend series (New York Tech, Clemson, Duke, NC State), also an all-time high.

The Terps scored several big wins over ranked opponents, including two wins over then-No. 5 NC State. Sophomore Justin Maxwell (Olney, Md.) made a tremendous leap forward, establishing himself as the team's centerpiece for years to come, while senior Steve Schmoll (Rockville, Md.) proved that any player can turn their career around with hard work and perseverance.

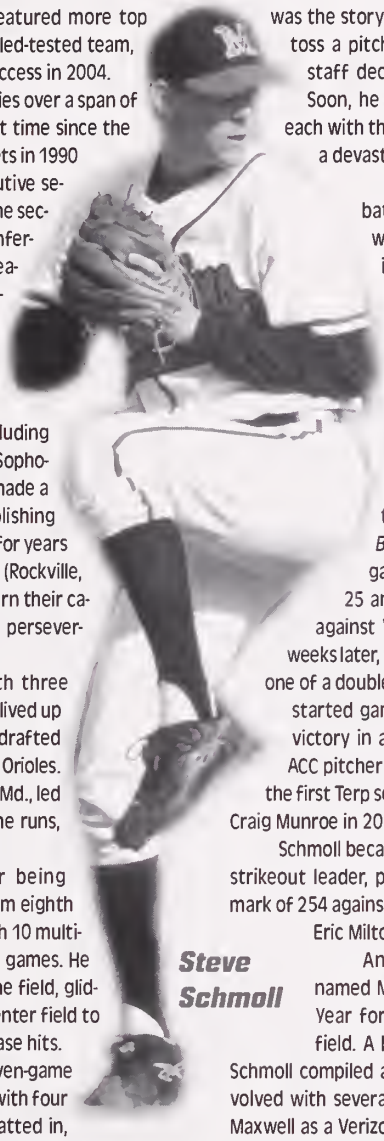
After hitting just .239 with three home runs as a freshman, Maxwell lived up to the potential that led him to be drafted out of high school by the Baltimore Orioles. The 6'5" centerfielder from Olney, Md., led the team in batting average, home runs, runs batted in and stolen bases.

Maxwell flourished after being moved up to the cleanup spot from eighth in the lineup, leading the team with 10 multi-RBI games, including four four-RBI games. He also showed incredible range in the field, gliding to the gaps in left and right center field to effortlessly nab would-be extra base hits.

He ended the season on a seven-game hit streak, hitting .500 (13-for-26) with four extra base hits and seven runs batted in, and hit four home runs over a stretch of three games from April 1 to April 4. Also of note was his stellar play against conference foes, as Maxwell batted .345 with 15 RBIs, tied for the team lead with second baseman Joe Sargent (Chespeake Beach, Md.).

Maxwell also set an example in the classroom, compiling a 3.93 grade point average as an animal sciences major. Maxwell was recognized for his accomplishments by being named an Arthur Ashe Jr. Scholar by Black Issues In High Education, selected as one of only 10 minority athletes from across the nation. He was also named to the Verizon District II All-Academic team.

Maxwell's progress bodes well for the future of the Terps, but the development of Schmoll as a starter with a 7.35 earned run average to one of the nation's top strikeout pitchers and one of the ACC's most dominant starters was the story of the season. After watching Schmoll toss a pitch underhand in practice, the coaching staff decided to experiment with his delivery. Soon, he was throwing from three arm angles, each with the same 90-mph velocity, to compliment a devastating slider.



Steve Schmoll

Schmoll started slowly - striking out batters at a record-shattering pace but with the home run being his vice, allowing six round-trippers in his first eight apperances. But the fifth-year senior, who was cut his freshman year as a catcher, got things under control and did not allow a home run in his next eight appearances, and only two in his final 10.

The highlights were abundant: Schmoll was named one of three National Players of the Week by Collegiate Baseball after throwing two complete game shutouts in one week, striking out 25 and allowing just eight hits in 18 innings against West Virginia and New York Tech. Two weeks later, Schmoll closed out a 6-3 Terp win in game one of a doubleheader with then-No. 15 Clemson, then started game two 30 minutes later and earned a victory in an 8-4 game. He was twice honored as ACC pitcher of the week, and last week was named the first Terp selection to the all-conference team since Craig Munroe in 2000.

Schmoll became Maryland's career and single-season strikeout leader, passing Brandon Agamennone's career mark of 254 against Duke and passing major-league pitcher Eric Milton's single-season record of 118.

An all-around threat, Schmoll was also named Maryland's Male Student Athlete of the Year for his accomplishments on and off the field. A biological resources engineering major, Schmoll compiled a 3.69 grade point average and was involved with several honor societies. He joined teammate Maxwell as a Verizon District II All-Academic selection, and signed a free agent contract with the Los Angeles Dodgers last summer and pitched for the Odgen Raptors in Single-A.

Freshman Mike Costantino (Somerset, Mass.) became an immediate contributor to the Terp lineup, following in the footsteps of sophomores Jason Maxey (Columbia, Md.) and Will Frazier (Mitchellville, Md.), who were both named honorable mention freshman All-Americans last season.

Costantino started 48 of 53 games and finished the season at .309, an average that at points in the season was among the conference leaders, rising as high as .368 on April 8 and .322 on May 10. Most promising of all was his selectivity at the plate, walking more times (20) than he struck out (19).

Costantino hit in the top of the lineup for the majority of the year, but did his best from the second spot, hitting .387 with a .457 on-base percentage.

Though he struggled early after making the transition from high school shortstop to collegiate third baseman, Costantino made tremendous improvements with his glove and arm by the end of the season that won't show up in the stat sheets but were vital to the team's success.

Costantino also began to show more of a power stroke as the season wore on, crushing two home runs in the final four games after hitting one all season, and clubbing a triple against Navy. He also led the team with 15 doubles, and was third in total bases.

The Maryland offense experienced a drop-off following the loss of Dick Howser Trophy finalist John McCurdy, who was drafted in the first round by the Oakland Athletics. But more important was the power void left by the absence of Maxey, who suffered lasting effects from off-season hand surgery.

The catcher/first baseman struggled to regain the stroke that clubbed a whopping 17 home runs as a freshman, but he seemed to slide back into a rhythm as the season came to a close, smashing a mammoth home run in the season finale against William & Mary and an RBI-triple in the ACC tournament vs. Duke. A healthy Maxey next year will spell big trouble for opposing pitchers.

Maxwell and redshirt senior Ray Gemmill (Silver Spring, Md.) answered the call, with Gemmill belting eight home runs and leading the team in slugging percentage after hitting six homers in his career.

This season, Maryland took a major step forward in terms of the quality of their opponents, going from in-state foes to regional powerhouses. While the collective winning percentage of the Terps' opponents in 2002 was .514, it soared to .557 in 2003, with seven teams still playing in the NCAA regional tournament, an experience that should bode well for the development of the young team in 2004.

Kyle George

It began to pay dividends in 2003, as Maryland won five games against ranked foes late in the season, including four games against teams in the top 15. The Terps also came within outs of defeating then-No. 14 Wake Forest twice and then-No. 1 Florida State.

Suprisingly, the team did its best at the plate against such ranked foes. Six batters hit well over .300 in such games, led by Gemmill, who hit .408 with a .776 slugging percentage (six doubles and four home runs). Also putting up solid numbers were redshirt freshman Brian Jarosinski (.400), Maxwell (.397), senior Kyle George (.378), Costantino (.359) and Frazier (.339).

Overall, the team batting average dropped 40 points from last season when McCurdy led the team with a .443 average, but the same number of players as last year (5) hit over .300, led by Sherwood high school teammates Maxwell and Jarosinski.

The Terps were able to hit some of their toughest opponents, scoring a combined 5.75 runs per game against three of the best pitching teams in the nation: Virginia Commwealth (2.47), Florida State (2.77) and Marist (3.40). Maryland faced eight of the top 10 pitchers in the ACC and showed no fear, holding those pitchers to a 4.78 earned run average.

Though the team's final earned run average sat at 6.54, it was marred by several offensive outbursts by opponents. After removing 20-run games by Georgia Tech, Clemson, and West Virginia, the ERA drops to 5.75, below 2002's number (5.77).

The relief corps matched the 2002 record-setting number of saves with 10, including four each by Schmoll and sophomore Brooks Norris (Baltimore, Md.). Senior Matt Basinger (Connellsville, Pa.) also chipped in two.

The team had four shutouts, including a five-pitcher effort against New York Tech. Schmoll was involved in three, tossing complete game shutouts against West Virginia and Navy, and following senior Jared Stuart (Corning, NY) in an 8-0, seven-inning blanking of Binghamton.

Pitching will be vital to the team's success in 2004. In 20 wins, the team's earned run average was a miniscule 2.15, with the opponent's batting average limited to .216. That ERA soared to 9.25 in games the team lost. Maryland was also 3-2 in one-run games, and threw more shutouts (4) than their opponents (2).

Leading the way will be sophomore Chris Clem (Berwyn, Pa.), who overcame early struggles to go 4-3 with a 4.35 earned run average in the second half. Sophomore Sean Kane (West Chester, Pa.) pitched better in the first half, holding opponents to a .244 batting average, but was the victim of no-decisions all season. Though his record sits at 1-7, Maryland won four of the last seven games he started.

Sophomore Bobby Ryan (Damascus, Md.) threw out 22 of 35 baserunners (37.2 percent) in the second half of the season after throwing out just 16 of 20 (20 percent) in the first half. Ryan was a better hitter in the first half, however, hitting .306 in the team's first 26 games, including a league-leading .442 on March 12 and a scalding 9-for-13 to open the season.

Gemmill committed just one error at first base, a .997 fielding percentage.

Basinger ended his Terp career second in all-time appearances in Maryland history and 25th in the conference after making a career-high 27 appearances.

Frazier hit .314 with 17 RBIs after being moved from left field to designated hitter. He hit .252 with 9 RBIs as an outfielder.

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest-rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality. The average high school GPA of entering students has zoomed from 3.01 to nearly 3.90, and the average SATs are now more than 1270. The student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 67 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, exceeding $350 million last year. Private giving also has increased, and the university last year concluded its first campaign by topping its $350 million goal by more than $100 million. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, Fall 2002 enrollment was 25,240 undergraduate and 9,561 graduate students. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library and White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their unique interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high-technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

University President
California '59
Sixth Year at Maryland

When C. D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998, he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Five years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever-accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community and in the world.

Leading a great university is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, chaired one of the nation's top-ranked departments of Mechanical Engineering, and eventually became Vice Chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

The University of Maryland is the State of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by nourishing a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, providing the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's connections with its various stakeholders, building partnerships with State and national corporations and federal agencies and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress can be seen in every area, from its nationally-ranked programs to its growing range of partnerships to its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, the quality of Maryland's programs has grown by leaps and bounds. In 2003, the University of Maryland moved up to 18th place among public universities in U.S. News & World Report rankings, the first time it has broken into the top 20 in its steady climb to distinction. We currently have 49 graduate and undergraduate programs and units ranked in the top 15 by U.S. News & World Report, up from 5 eight years ago.

While our academic successes have spread across the board, the university has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, environmental policy, education and journalism. Maryland is one of only 10 public and private universities that have their programs in computer science, mathematics, physics, and engineering each ranked in the top 20, and the Robert H. Smith School of Business is one of 6 nationally ranked in both the top 10 Business Faculty in Teaching and the top 10 Business Faculty in Research.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. This past year a faculty member was the recipient of the Japan Prize, an award given by the Japanese government in technology that is equivalent to the Nobel prizes. More than 30 of our faculty are members of the national academies, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including political events, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

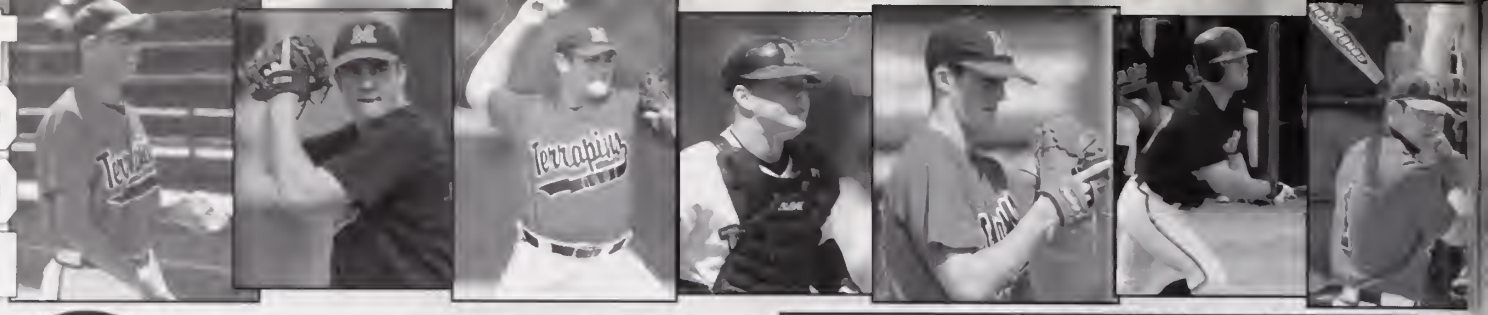
Talented Students

Over the past 10 years, it has become a cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2003 is 3.9, while the average SAT score is nearly 1,300.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. Our extremely popular living-learning programs, which bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting, were ranked 3rd in the country in the latest U.S. News & World Report. In the last academic year, over 6,000 students enrolled in such programs as Gemstone, College Park Scholars, and the Hinman CEO Entrepreneurship Program.

Athletic Excellence

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in the 2002 NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America. "That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."



Deborah A. Yow

Director of Athletics
10th Year at Maryland
Elon '74

Deborah A. Yow is in the tenth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's nine years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics three years ago is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations, as well as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television for the 2003-04 academic year. The committee, comprised of the ACC's athletics directors, is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Additionally, in May, she was chosen as one of three recipients of the 2003 Women of the Year award by Women in Sports and Events.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsible, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all nine of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budget in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $42 million annually and the sizable prior accumulated operating debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Selected recently by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In football, won the 2002 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl and followed this with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl in December 2002. This past New Year's Day, they routed West Virginia, 41-7, in the 2004 Gator Bowl. In men's basketball, the Terps advanced to the Sweet 16 in the NCAA Tournament following its second consecutive Final Four and the National Championship in 2002. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved this level in both these revenue sports in the same year.

Additionally, Maryland is one of only five universities to win a National Championship in both basketball and football (UCLA, Michigan, Michigan State, Ohio State and Maryland).

- Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.
- Field Hockey played for the National Championship in 2001.
- Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways and has won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.
- Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.
- Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center
- The athletics budget was balanced for the ninth consecutive year.
- In 2002-03, 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past nine years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to"raise our sights and sharpen our tools... to work hard and smart...to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also be highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, our athletics director recently stated, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the M Club members who serve and give liberally. We are also blessed with a terrific President Dr. Dan Mote, who has fostered a mindset of excellence across our institution. he is a strong and balanced advocate for what he calls 'the three A's of the University — Academics, the Arts and Athletics'. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success... and the basis for our bright future. It's a great time to be a Terp."

ACADEMIC SUPPORT & CAREER DEV.

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by acting associate athletics director Val Sheley, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes. Don Pearman works with the baseball team.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, a program assistant and the learning specialist, as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

Maryland Gameplan

The Maryland Gameplan is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process. It is distributed to more than 500 corporations and businesses across the country, in addition to being featured on the M Club website. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club.

Career Networking Night

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume-writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

Student-Athlete Advisory Council

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs Commitment Statements

Commitment to Academic Excellence To support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation.

Commitment to Athletic Excellence To build philosophical foundations for the development of athletic programs that are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the well-being of the student-athlete.

Commitment to Personal Development To support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills.

Commitment to Career Development To encourage the student-athlete to develop and pursue career and life goals.

Commitment to Service To engage student-athletes in service to his/her campus and surrounding communities.

Academic Support For Returning Athletes Program

The Academic Support for Returning Athletes Program was created in 1986 to support the academic efforts of former varsity student-athletes at the University of Maryland, College Park. In 1989, ASRAP was assigned by the President's Office to the Academic Achievements Program and enrolled 40 students that year. As a member of the National Consortium for Academics and Sports (NCAS), the University of Maryland is committed to assisting its former athletes with degree completion. A key component of the program is community outreach. Each returning student completes a "workship" that allows the cost of tuition and fees to be exchanged for community services with youth. In 2002, ASRAP moved into the ASCDU.

Media Guidelines

Credentials: Media and photographer credentials for events at Maryland's Shipley Field may be obtained by working press, radio and television by writing or calling Sean O'Connor in the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office, 2725 Comcast Center, College Park, MD 20741-0295. All requests should be submitted at least 48 hours prior to the event by phoning the Media Relations Office at (301) 314-1483. Since space is limited, accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers and wire services, originating radio and television stations, national weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, local and regional television crews. Priority is granted to members of the media who cover Maryland athletics on a regular basis, and to visiting media members. Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment.

Services: The Media Relations Office will provide complete statistics at the conclusion of every home game. Programs containing rosters and event notes on each team will be provided for the working media.

Fax Machine: The Media Relations Office has one facsimile machine, located in Room 1112 of Cole Field House, which is available upon request. The fax number is (301) 314-9094.

Terp score updates on your cell phone: Maryland fans can now get score updates sent directly to their cell phones! Just go to any schedule page at www.umterps.com to sign up for the service.

Terps on the Web: For up-to-date game stories, statistics, schedules and results, and other Maryland athletic department information, please locate www. umterps.com on the Internet.
